

Open Position for Renewable Energy and Emission Reduction Research Officer in RDI (Bandung-based)

RDI is looking for a Renewable Energy and Emission Reduction (REER) Research Officer!

Qualifications:

- Bachelor's or Master's degree and up to 2 years of relevant experience.
- Educational background in chemical engineering, environmental engineering, industrial engineering, or a related field in the engineering and science domain.
- Experience and strong interest in research on renewable energy and emission reduction, particularly in life cycle assessment (LCA), circular economy, and energy policy are highly desirable.
- Familiarity with relevant software tools related to life cycle assessment is an advantage; applicants are encouraged to highlight any tools they have used in related work or research.
- Excellent communication skills in both Indonesian and English, essential for maintaining positive relationships with team members, partners, and stakeholders.
- Strong growth mindset, analytical skills, critical thinking, and excellent academic writing skills.

Responsibilities:

- Participate in projects that focus on LCA utilisation throughout the project duration.
- Responsible for proposal writing, research, and project consulting on diverse energy and sustainability topics within multi-level governance settings.
- Analyze research findings through priority tools such as LCA, preparing comprehensive reports and contributing strategic insights to project planning.
- Collaborate with fellow researchers and project teams in designing and implementing research activities.
- Actively stay informed about emerging trends and developments in energy and sustainability research.
- Willing to work from the office (WFO) in Bandung if selected.

Additional Information:

This position is based in Bandung. The salary range is IDR 5-7 million/month and will be determined based on the officer's educational background and years of relevant experience.
